

Debbie Diller's Summer Institute 2017

Debbie Diller is the author of many best-selling books on literacy and math stations, classroom organization, and small group/guided reading instruction from Stenhouse Publishers.

Debbie has been an educator for 40 years and has taught PreK-grade 10. She is passionate about meeting the needs of all students through engaging whole group instruction, guided support in small group, and meaningful independent practice at work stations—in both literacy and math!

Get energized for the 2017-18 school year as Debbie shares ideas from her newest book, Growing Independent Learners: From Standards to Stations!

You Will Learn How to Help Students

- ✓ Engage deeply in a classroom that is designed (not decorated) to encourage independent readers, writers, and thinkers.
- ✓ Independently work in an inviting, uncluttered, organized classroom learning community connected to high-quality lessons you've taught.
- ✓ Fully access learning materials (including anchor charts created with them) to develop independence.
- ✓ Engage in meaningful partner practice at long-lasting literacy stations based on state standards and student interests.
- ✓ Use standards-based academic vocabulary to deepen their understanding and bridge to success on state tests.

Debbie's Mission Statement:

My mission is to live with courage and conviction to inspire and encourage teachers to see each child's unique gifts, to value children's differences, and to use these to teach ALL children to read, write, and think.

What are people saying about Debbie's institutes?

"You have opened my eyes to what is important to the children and how to involve them in the learning."

"So much fun and useful information."

"As always... fantastic. No matter how many times I see/hear/visit/attend your workshops, I walk away with wonderful ideas. Your energize me and make me want to go back to school in July!

"I really enjoyed your message and love your books and ideas. I can't wait for school to start and to redo some things in my room. Thanks so much for the great information!"

"Every time I hear you, I learn something new."
